

DESCRIPTIVE ABSTRACT

---

- 5        The object of the invention is a topical composition particularly for the treatment of erythema, characterized in that it includes at least one ion exchange resin such as colestyramine and at least one substance with buffer properties.